

Task Three

actually, we have more than one solution to implement this

- We make a special table for each language and based on the language we send the data from its table
- We repeat the columns based on the number of languages based on the language we send data from its columns
- With each request, the language is added. If it is not present, we specify a language by default